

APSC2020

Asian Pacific Society of Cardiology Congress 2020
Kyoto, Japan

<http://www.congre.co.jp/apsc2020/>

March 12-14, 2020

• Kyoto International Conference Center
• Grand Prince Hotel Kyoto

Congress Chairperson
Takashi Akasaka, M.D., Ph.D.
Wakayama Medical University

Re: Message from the congress chairman of APSC 2020 and the President of APSC about the corona virus infection.

February 13th, 2020

Dear APSC members;

Dear APSC member and many doctors and medical staffs from Asian Pacific area, who are originally planning to attend APSC 2020, in Kyoto, I personally appreciate your kind support and contribution to APSC 2020.

At the moment, we are planning to carry on the meeting in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Japanese Circulation Society (JCS) 2020 according to the original plan because this new virus infection seems to be under-controlled within Japan and there are no warning from the government to stop the any kind of meeting officially.

The organizing committee decided to perform the meeting in conjunction with JCS 2020 at the moment, although there are several issues that some of our member and the guests invited from Asian countries will not be able to attend the meeting because of the decision by their governments or hospitals. Actually, the condition will change day by day, and the final decision will be made by the end of this month by the organizing committee, but please understand APSC 2020 in Kyoto is planning to carry out based on the original schedule at the moment.

Sincerely yours,

Takashi Akasaka M.D., Ph.D.
Congress Chairperson of APSC2020

Jack Tan
President of the Asian Pacific Society of Cardiology